CRUFTS - Thursday 8th March 2007

Firstly I would like to thank my ring stewards Peter and Arthur for their unstinting work throughout the day. As I have not frequented the show ring for some time I will just mention some of the uncharacteristic faults that I feel are creeping into the breed. Some exhibits I found to be heavy in bone, some to have long harsh coats and there were quite a few lacking in oval feet with well knit arched toes. I also found several exhibits in very soft condition who would benefit from a lot more exercise. It is also necessary to have strength over the loin to achieve a series of graceful curves as shape is so important. Width of thigh is something that appears to be lacking in many exhibits. I would also like to have seen a lot more tail action on the move. On the plus side, a lot of exhibits were teeming with quality, this was evident in many of the dogs but more so in the bitches. When it came to the line up for all unbeaten bitches all were without doubt of excellent quality presenting many of the wonderful characteristics that make the breed so beautiful and a joy to see.
